DIGITAL BUSINESS STARTER GUIDE

A practical beginner-friendly guide to creating and selling digital products online.

1. Choose Your Digital Product

Start with a clear customer problem. Good beginner products include planners, checklists, templates, prompt packs, mini-guides, worksheets and social-media content packs. Choose one audience and one useful outcome.

2. Create the Product

Keep the first version simple and useful. Organize the content into sections, use consistent headings, add examples and include a short instruction page so customers know how to use the product.

3. Package Your Offer

Give the product a clear name, a benefit-focused subtitle, attractive cover art and a short list of what is included. Bundle related files when it creates a stronger customer outcome.

4. Marketing Fundamentals

Use educational posts, demonstrations, customer benefits, FAQs, testimonials and limited-time offers. Focus each post on one message and one call to action.

5. Simple Sales Page Structure

Headline → Problem → Solution → What's Included → Benefits → How It Works → FAQs → Call to Action.
